Dallas EDC Has a New Home in the Heart of Downtown

Dallas, TX – October 6, 2026 – Dallas Economic Development Corporation (Dallas EDC) today announced it has a new home in the heart of downtown Dallas, with offices at 400 S. Record Street, Suite 1150, Dallas, Texas 75202.

The new location places Dallas EDC near major downtown investments and institutions, including the Kay Bailey Hutchison Convention Center, the Dallas College expansion, and significant redevelopment underway in the surrounding area.

“Dallas EDC is the front door for the City of Dallas for new and existing businesses, including international companies and delegations, and our new downtown office puts us right where that work happens — in the heart of the city we serve,” said Linda McMahon, Dallas EDC CEO.

Dallas EDC previously shared office space with Downtown Dallas, Inc. (DDI) at The National. “We're grateful to Downtown Dallas, Inc. for its hospitality. Sharing space allowed our two organizations to collaborate as we focused on our complementary missions to drive Dallas’s economic growth and vitality,” McMahon said.

From its new home on Record Street, Dallas EDC continues its work to attract investment, support existing businesses and advance economic opportunity throughout Dallas.
